azur 100 - MELCHERS once again top employer for lawyers

Every year, the "azur100" list presents the 100 most attractive employers for lawyers: The 50 best employers in the overall ranking, 30 top employers from six German regions and 20 employers that stand out in individual areas of law. In addition to law firms, companies and public bodies are also evaluated. MELCHERS is once again among the five most attractive employers in Germany's southwest in 2021.

According to "azur100", interns praise that "partners dedicate a lot of time" and trainees appreciate "the very friendly working atmosphere". Associates give MELCHERS well above-average marks for the chances of becoming a partner. They also praise the increasing proportion of women, the internal seminar programmes and part-time solutions for all career levels. Associates appreciate the "good working atmosphere and flexible working hours."

"The southwest is not only home to quite a few renowned law firms, but also to a large number of well-known companies with large legal departments. We are therefore particularly pleased that the azur editorial team and young lawyers have voted MELCHERS one of the five most attractive employers for lawyers," comments Dr Carsten Lutz, Partner at MELCHERS, on the good ranking.

With "azur100", the JUVE publishers aim to provide trainees, young professionals and interns with valuable information, insights and assessments of employers. The ranking is made up of independent surveys of applicants, employers and working young lawyers, as well as an editorial assessment, and focuses on the interplay of many individual factors, such as good reputation among young lawyers, employee satisfaction, remuneration and the number of new hires.
